

Background Information

Axians eWaste GmbH is an experienced partner to disposal companies, industry, and local governments. We focus on creating waste management 4.0 – the complete digital transformation of all processes along the disposal chain. With our product family “eWaste – digital solutions for waste management and environment,” we provide our customers with a comprehensive and professional software as a service (SaaS) platform. This allows companies in different industries such as chemistry, energy, construction materials, and logistics, as well as in the public sector, to ensure and certify seamless and legally conforming waste disposal.

Axians eWaste is a part of Axians, the global umbrella brand for ICT solutions by Vinci Energies. As an expert in energy and information technologies, Vinci Energies plans, implements, and maintains solutions for industry, service companies, and regional authorities.
